

DPT Student MS Ride and Sushi Night

LFT TO RT – Katherine May, Anne Rowe, Trevor Matulys, Jane Griffith, Wren McLaughlin, Misty Woods

Six Duke Doctor of Physical Therapy students participated in the National Multiple Sclerosis Society's Historic New Bern Ride September 12 and 13. As part of the Duke Medicine Team, Jane Griffith, Trevor Matulys, Katherine May, Wren McLaughlin, Anne Rowe, and Misty Woods rode over 1,000 combined miles in two days, alongside the other 2,250 participants. The event raised more than $1.3 million toward a cure for MS.

On September 2, the future physical therapists held a sushi dinner fundraiser to involve DPT division students, faculty, and staff in their fundraising efforts. Students prepped enough sushi rolls and sides to feed the 40-plus supporters that showed with wide eyes and eager chopsticks. Their efforts raised over $500 for the New Bern ride. The team wishes to thank everyone for their overwhelming support.
